

Game:

Professions at School

Divide the class into groups.

Give each group a card and ask your students to write the name of a profession at school. Each group will have to act out what is on the card, e.g.: the headmaster. The other teams will have to guess who is being imitated.

Don't forget to remind your students the importance of respect for the others, especially when imitating them.

The object of the game is to revise the name of different professions and subjects at school.
