

To start a new topic with a strip cartoon is always a good idea. Children will get new information about Eddie and his friends. They will also be able to :

- * read the conversations and act them out
- * invent new dialogues
- * suggest possible headlines.

